In the following article we will review the Click to Call application, which is a cool Android application that allows you to make free phone calls without paying expensive phone bills. In other words, you can use this software to make free calls over the internet and even over wifi. This application is completely free and offers basic functionality, such as calling someone without paying long-distance fees. You can try it for free and see if it's suitable for your needs. The application's name is self-explanatory. As you may have guessed, you can call anyone you want to contact using this app by clicking the contact icon. In order to do so, you have to enter the mobile phone number of the person you would like to call, and then click on the "Call" button. When the call is connected, the number of the call is displayed on the top-right corner of the interface. Another cool feature offered by the Click to Call application is the option to save an incoming call number for easy access at a later time. Of course, this can only be done by using the app, so you won't be able to save the number using other methods. Unlike other similar programs, this app has no annoying advertisements. You are always free to close the application's window as well as the app, as it isn't a constantly running app. It's a very convenient, simple, and easy-to-use application for free calls.

Click to Call In this post I will show you a new software that I discovered and is actually the best tool to detect which apps you have installed on your mobile phone or tablet. My name is Jhon Flores and I'm a developer and computer engineer from Colombia, South America, where I'm currently living. I'm actually a big fan of the Android operating system, and I consider it as one of the best and most powerful OS. I'm mainly using it to create different applications, such as the web browser, the note pad and the to do list, in addition to the many games I love to play. So that's why I was surprised to discover this new software called "SuperAntiSpyware". It's developed by the company "CNet technologies" and actually is a very powerful and unique software that will help you to detect and remove many spyware and adware programs

Quote: Translate.Net is a software application designed to help you perform various translations to and from a wide range of languages. This proves to be pretty useful especially if you need to translate different foreign documents and emails, stay in touch with your foreign friends, or learn new words. One of the main features of the program is that it doesn't require you to download additional modules in order to work. Translate.Net features a wide selection of languages available for you to choose from. You can select between two and more than hundred languages to perform the translation process. The user interface is plain and offers quick access to the configuration settings pane, where you can select the translation service (e.g. Google Translate), output languages and subjects (e.g. Art, Business, Informatics, Medicine, Philosophy). Unfortunately, the application doesn't allow users to add a file to the list, so in order to carry out the translation process you are required to copy and paste the text. Moreover, you can show the direction of translation, highlight untranslated words in red, manage multiple user profiles, and others. The generated translations cannot be exported to a file, but they can be copied to the Clipboard. During our testing we have noticed that the program is able to display the translated text quickly and without errors throughout the entire process. All things considered, Translate.Net can give a hand if you are looking for a simple way to translate your text. Although it cannot be considered the most powerful translation tool on the market, it's easy to work with, and the portable version of the program can be found here.
